LICENSE SALES LAGGING

Probate Judge J. O. English stated Monday morning that the sale of privilege licenses was lagging. Oct. 31 is the last day on which privilege licenses can be purchased without a penalty being added.

LINEMAN OF WEEK

Thomas Prescott at right tackle played one of the best games of his career Friday night. Time after time he made life miserable for Opp ball carriers with his hard tackles and he tore the opposing line wide open to make gaping holes for Tiger backs to go through. He was a power house offensively and defensively. His play in Elba's line is attracting wide attention and he is regarded as likely college football material.

Second to Prescott, Coach Galtner stated Monday morning he thought Jerry Brown's defensive play worthy of special mention. Brown was at the right place at the right time while backing up the Elba line and stopped many Opp plays.

GAME OF THE WEEK

The Elba-Opp game Friday was selected by the Montgomery Advertiser as its "Game of the Week." Its sports reporter and photographer were on hand and played up the game with pictures and headlines.

Pictures showed the major efforts, Opp cheerleaders, Marlin Dyess picking up seven yards off right tackle in the first quarter and Max Griffin of Opp in an action shot. Coach Pearino Galtner was shown giving pre-coach instructions to a circle of players.

RUNNING STAR VALUABLE

That an outstanding running star is doubly valuable was demonstrated Friday night in the football game against Opp.

Coach Elberidge had scouted the Brantley game and saw Marlin Dyess make a track field out of the gridiron. As a result he spread his defense to slow up Dyess. But in doing this he enabled Jimmy Reeves to shake loose and do a lot of damage by carrying. Dyess also turned in a line performance.

TRAINING SCHOOL

The training school convened at the Elba Methodist Church Monday morning is being well-attended. Instructors are Revs. Arthur Carlton, Lamar Spencer, and Elvin T. Edgar and Mrs. D. N. Pearson.

HOSPITALIZED

Mr. & Mrs. Will Kendrick received word Sunday that their son, John, had been carried to the A. C. L. hospital in Waycross, Ga. suffering from high blood pressure and fever.

John, a native of Elba, has been in the employ of the Coast Line Railroad for many years and holds a responsible position as dispatcher.

Numerous pictures were used.

ALVIE J. HYATT JR.

Scheduled to return to Norfolk Va. Sept. 25 from duty with the U. S. Sixth Fleet aboard the light cruiser USS Roanoke is Alvie J. Hyatt Jr., commissaryman first class, son of Mr. & Mrs. Alvie J. Hyatt of Elba and husband of Mrs. Peggy W. Hyatt of New Brooklyn.

The Roanoke has just completed six months in the Mediterranean.

WEARS OUT THREE SETS

Mrs. Herbert Morrow operates a self-service laundry in West Elba. She started in business eleven years ago with one machine. She said she thought in the early stages of her business venture that she would wear out sooner than the washers. However, she recently installed a new set of six machines. It is the third time she has replaced her equipment.

Dozier Roberts Elected Chamber of Commerce President

Dozier Roberts was elected to head the newly organized Chamber of Commerce at a meeting attended by 75 members at the court house Tuesday night. Vice president is Paul Cunningham and treasurer is Lamar Rainier Jr.

Elected to the board of directors for an 18-month term were Flourney Whitman, Dozier Roberts, Henry Dorsey, John Taylor, and Paul Cunningham.

Named for 12 month terms on the board were K. D. Thomas, Lamar Rainier Jr., Stokes Hale, and Dr. J. Bryan Taylor.

Chosen for six month terms were Wiley Stanford, Yarnie

Wright, Robert Cannon and Dr. Leslie Johnson.

According to standard operating procedure in a Chamber of Commerce, the membership picks its board of directors and the board chooses the officers from their number. Tuesday night the board met after the full membership gathering and elected their officers.

Considerable financial aid was obtained from two funds that had been left over from previous projects. As soon as the transfer can be made about $400 left over from Centennial Day and $130 left in the old Merchants Credit Association fund will be put in the Chamber of Commerce treasury.

Lamar Rainier Jr. told the members that around $1500 had been deposited in the new organization's bank account and there were a good many more prospective members yet to be contacted.

The members instructed the board of directors to draw up a constitution and set of by-laws patterned after those read by Paul Cunningham from an organizational handbook put out by the Chamber of Commerce. The constitution is to be written up and mailed to members for their approval.

Tentatively approved portions of the constitution call for 13 directors to be elected in staggered terms with a third of them being chosen every six months. Terms of officers was set for six months. Meetings of the full membership will be called every six months to elect directors who have served out their terms.

The board of directors is to meet at least once a month. First meeting was set for Tuesday, Oct. 12 at noon at a local cafe. At that time committee appointments will be made, a budget discussed and policy of the group set. Members of the board of directors asked that it be emphasized they will pay for their own meals at these meetings.

Dr. Bryan Taylor requested he be notified if anyone knows of a charge against the centennial Day celebration. He would like to be notified immediately because the money is going to be transferred to the Chamber of Commerce fund.

Dozier Roberts reported the Chamber is working on getting an airfield for Elba. It will be an auxiliary field for Camp Rucker. Wednesday evening the Chamber of Commerce officers, city council, officers from Camp Rucker and city officials from Enterprise will meet to see if details for an airport here can't be worked out.

Tentative information indicates the field, which will be 4000 feet long and 300 feet wide, can be obtained at little or practically no cost to the city or Chamber of Commerce. Rucker officials will give final details on the project at the meeting tonight (Wednesday, Oct. 7).

Three apartments have been rented by the Chambers rental service, Mr. Roberts reported.

Elba Levels Opp, 27-0; Meets Enterprise Here Friday Eve

BY C. B. McDOWELL

With one of the largest rip-roaring crowds of fans that ever attended a football game in Elba, Coaches Galtner and McCurley and their Tigers got a taste of sweet revenge at the local stadium Friday night. Last year the Tigers were humiliated by the Opp Bobcats, 26-0. Friday night the scales were reversed and Elba poured on the steam to wallop the helmsmen but paying Bulldogs, 27-0.

It was the third victory for the Tigers and so far no enemy ball totter has been able to cross the Elba goal. In Brantley and Luerne no opposing ball carrier was able to get within the 30-yard stripe. Opp did a little better but never seriously was in a position to score.

The Montgomery Advertiser made it the "game of the week" and gave it full pictorial and reportorial coverage. Among other comments, the Advertiser said: "The Tigers of Elba, who coasted to their third consecutive victory of the current season, seemed destined to take over Opp's old rule as the king-pin of South Alabama prep football."

Paving the way for the Tigers was Jimmy Reeves, big pile-driving full back, and Marlin Dyess and Mack Wise, a pair of fleet and deceptive backs, who ran and passed the pigskin in a manner that was confusing and discouraging to the Bobcats. Several aerials from Wise to Dyess were beautiful to behold.

The Tigers combined an air-tight defense with an elusive precision-plus offense. The defense refused to yield and the offense baffled the Bobcats during the entire game.

Members of the Elba football squad who have racked up three successive victories so far this season and have to be scored upon are:

Reeves, Jimmy Harper, Howie Prescott, Charles Clark, Felix Dorsey, Paul Hudson, J. Frank Hudson, Edward Sanderson.

Second row: Coach Pearino Galtner, James Nelson, Tom

Prescott, John D. Plant, Jimmy Bryant, Omega Farris, Mack Westbrook, Bill Brazelton, Jerry Brown, Charles Boutwell, Charles Hayes, Marlin Dyess and Coach McCurley.

Third row: Jimmy Reeves,

Donald Bowdoin, Bibb Farris, Wayne McDonald, Roland Powell, Bobby Folsom, James Burdett, Rex Boutwell, Carroll Flowers, Leon Brunson, Mack Wise and Rex Marler.

Leading the Tiger defense was veteran Tom Prescott, around whom Elba coaches have built their forward wall. He was in on one smothering tackle after another, and he tore great holes in the enemy lines through which Tiger backs flitted like swallows.

Fullback Reeves put on a stellar performance, aided and abetted by Opp's concentrated efforts to stop Dyess and Wise. He gained 115 yards and was a powerhouse on offense and defense.

Fumbles proved costly to the Bobcats and the Tigers also suffered from inability to cling to the ball. There seemed to be a special effort going on to knock the ball loose from the opposing ball carrier.

Opp refused to yield throughout the first period, but the Tigers broke away and really went to town in the second quarter and racked up a touchdown in the opening minutes when Centennial Bobcats punned, punned, a Bobcat fumble on the Opp 40, Wise faded and flipped to Dyess in the end zone for the Tigers' first touchdown. Dyess ran the extra point.

Reeves led the way for the second Elba score a short time later with Wise following perfect blocking for the needed five yards for the second touchdown. Reeves failed in his try for the extra point.

A 35-yard pass from Wise to Dyess came in the last seconds of the first half for Elba's third touchdown. Wise rained the extra point and the Tigers led 20-0 at the half.

Opp threatened an offensive show in the third quarter but their hopes bogged won in a confusion of fumbles.

A sustained Tiger drive in the final period accounted for the fourth touchdown with Wise going across from the three-yard line. He also added the extra point, making the score, 27-0.

In the three games played so far Elba has scored 87 points and the Tiger goal line has yet to be seriously threatened.

The Opp and Elba hands put on high class exhibitions during the halftime intermission.

The Enterprise Wildcats, traditional rivals, will engage the victorious Elba Tigers Friday night at the Elba stadium with the kickoff at 6 P. M. Enterprise always goes all out to make a good showing against Elba. A big crowd is forecast.

On the 44 acres of land on the farm, cotton, corn, oats, peanuts and peas for market are grown. They raise Jersey cows and Polka China hogs. Fawcett's crop is peanuts. Tilage is done by mules and horses. Livestock owned on the place.

Is fed the corn, peanut hay and Seca, 6-4 and 4-10-7 commercial fertilizers are used. They are distributed by the old type planter. A 40 per cent supplement is fed livestock.

For conservation and soil building, velvet beans are planted and plowed under. For the past three years the land has been rented out.

Future plans call for building a new house and using the old home for a tenant house.

Produce raised on the farm is sold, used on their own table and canned for future use. Feed for the stock is also stored away for use during winter months.

Previous owners of the Lee farm have been Jack Parker and then the Farm Security Administration. In recent years a garage, three barns and several terraces and ditches have been constructed.

home have been clear of indebtedness. My husband and I, my mother and step father, Mr. & Mrs. T. M. Bowdoin are still living on the place that I paid $3,160.01 for.

"Nothing could have been a more pleasant surprise to me than to have had The Elba Clipper to have chosen my home as their 'Mystery Farm Photo' of the week. Sept. 30 and I want to thank the editor for doing this and also for giving me the beautiful enlarged picture. I appreciate it very much, and have had it framed."

FARM HISTORY

When I first went to Ross to borrow the money he remarked to me that he was going to let me have the money to help me but I would do well if I managed to pay the interest. So when I went to make the final payment he was really surprised.

"Since that time the farm and "In the meantime my mother and step father had grown old and unable to take care of themselves and they were making their home with me. I couldn't grow marketable crops, such as cotton, corn and peanuts but I planted all the vegetables I was able and took care of several milk cows and a flock of chickens. I made daily trips all over Elba with my produce, eggs and milk and saved part of the money. Every time I could get up enough to cover much I took it to Ross to apply on the loan."

"However, this was a slow going and the city limits had been extended almost to my farm. I had applications for lots to be used for residences. I saw an opportunity to lift part of my load and I sold my first lot to my brother-in-law, Avery Jackson who built a home on it. Then

"All of this money was borrowed at 6 per cent interest. And with this debt ahead of me, a widow with no companion to help me, the future looked dark."

Mystery Farm Photo to Be Identified

The operator of the farm pictured above will receive a beautiful enlargement of the original photo free if he will call at The Elba Clipper and identify his farm. Everyone recognizing the farm should let The Elba Clipper know, so that the identity can be published next week.

School Bus Dispute Settled at Hearing

Circuit Judge Eris Paul settled the long-smoldering dispute between the City and County Boards of Education Saturday when he ruled that Elba could not operate its own bus to pick up students outside of the city school year 1953-54, for the purpose of transporting colored school children to the Colored Schools in Elba, and to transport said children in said area who desire to attend the Elba Elba split off from the city school system. That was in Aug., 1953.

"That the Elba City Board of Education is hereby enjoined and restrained from operating a city school bus over the rural area of Coffee County outside of the city limits of Elba for transportation of school children to Elba schools."

That the agreement entered into by and between the Board of Education of Coffee County and the Board of Education of the City of Elba on August 4, 1953, is valid, has not been altered by mutual consent and is in full force and effect.

HISTORY OF CONFLICT

The disagreement between the two boards reached the court room stage this fall when the county retained a bus carrying colored children to the Mulberry Heights school to New Brooklyn and Enterprise. This hurt the Elba school system.

That the Board of Education of Coffee County and each of its members, severally and collectively, and the Supt. of Education of Coffee County are hereby enjoined and ordered to ing one of its own and running it over the territory bordered by Damasus-New Brooklyn and the Elba-New Brooklyn highway.

When the city started its bus, the county filed an injunction to stop them. The hearing Saturday settled the question by ordering both parties to live up to the contract they signed when Elba split off from the county and went under a city school system. That was in Aug., 1953.

COTTON STILL BLOOMING

For the past several weeks a good deal has been said about the prolific blooming cotton and possibilities of a "second crop."

No rain of any consequence has fallen lately but the cotton continues to bloom and form bolls. John Taylor said he made a tour of the county Sunday and was surprised to see the extent of the blooming cotton. He said in many fields the blooms were more numerous than during the normal growing season. He still thinks prospects are good for a top crop. There is talk of local gins reopening when the second crop opens. It would probably be unprecedented but this year has been one of unprecedented ev-born May 23, 1860. He was married to Miss Willie Flournoy. Surviving are the widow; two daughters, Polk and Henrietta Coston, one brother, J. W. Coston of Laverne; four sisters, Mrs. W. Richburg of Henderson, Mrs. J. W. Horn of Brantley, Mrs. Felix Folmar of Laverne and Mrs. A. C. Coley of Oklahoma City.

—40 Years Ago—
Ransom Byrd, one of Coffee County's most prominent citizens, father of County Supt. C. H. Byrd and W. O. Byrd, died Wednesday at his home in Enterprise after a short illness. He was 72 years old.

Don't forget that Sunday is the day set apart by the President's proclamation for all of us to meet at our respective churches to pray unto God. He may cause the nations of the earth to cease from war. We believe God hears and answers our prayers, so let us not fail to respect the president's call.

—40 Years Ago—
Charley Campbell and Jack Grooms, white men, prisoners in County Jail for the past several weeks, became homesick Sunday night and proceeded to find a way out that they might see their homefolks. Their escape from jail was discovered early Monday morning and it was discovered that the escapees had gained access to the room where there was a strong lock on the ceiling which was used for passage into the left in case of leaks in the roof. A strong lock on the drop-door did not hinder Campbell, who is said to be a notorious character, so he broke a water pipe and pulled the stopper on the lock. Once in the left, they easily found the opening in the gable at the front of the building, removed the lattice work and by using blankets easily reached the ground.

Deputy Sheriff W. M. Rushing captured Grooms yesterday afternoon a few miles below Enterprise. He said he did not care to get away, he just wanted to see his folks. Campbell, who broke jail at Elba a month ago, is still at large, charged with a number of offenses, and it is thought he has left the county.

Two other white prisoners had the same opportunity to escape but said they did not want to get out. One said he did not put himself in jail and he sure was not going to let himself out. The other said the war is on and it rains so much he couldn't make anything picking cotton. The sheriff's office is still at the escape and if he is apprehended it is safe to say he will spend

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

By HOLLAND & KILGO
J. C. Anderson of Kinston says he made twice as much corn on a few acres of soil as he did on the same area this spring.

The service has built up the nitrogen and organic matter in the soil. These are necessary for high production. The organic matter enables the soil to absorb more of the rain fall.

There are other good plants that work well in rotation. Bahia grass is good and builds up a lot of organic matter in the soil. It forms a good sod to protect the soil from erosion and is easily established. It makes a good grazing crop and is easy to destroy when ready to turn back to row crops.

With less acres of allotted crops farmers can plant more crop land to bahia and help increase yields on all acres of the farm.

Carlton Larkin, Elba, says his bahia was one of his best pasture grasses. One acre of bahia furnished more grazing than two acres of common bermuda grass. The grasses were growing side by side and received the same rainfall.

Bahia grass, sericea and coastal bermuda grasses are the best summer plants for this section. Bahia can be planted with crimson clover or oats this fall.

Redmon-Windham Helps to Sponsor FFA Kansas City Trip

H. S. Jones, vocational agriculture teacher in Elba and Fred Woods, vocational agriculture instructor in Kinston, and J. C. Redmon, manager of Redmon-Windham Tractor Co. announced today that the company is helping to sponsor this year's trip to Kansas City for the FFA members who will receive the American Farmer degree.

Only one young farmer out of each thousand FFA members in the state eligible for the degree, which is conferred each year at the Kansas City National Convention. It is the highest degree in FFA and before a member can receive this honor, he must have met high standards of character, leadership and performance.

In most cases a young man must receive the American Farmer degree while in business for himself, owning and successfully operating his own farm.

Mr. Redmon said, "The Ford Tractor and Implement dealers are happy to help the American Farmers defray their expenses to the Kansas City Convention. We feel it an honor and a privilege to have a small part in making it possible for these fine young farmers to attend the convention."

Work Starts on Natural Gas Lines Soon

Natural gas for Elba, probably will be available within the next 12 months as the result of action taken at a meeting here on Monday at City Hall. The Southeast Alabama Gas District, a municipal corporation composed of 14 of the major cities of Southeast Alabama, through its four principal officers Monday announced that natural gas for this area is an accomplished fact.

The district has sold $19,500,000 worth of Revenue Bonds to finance construction and contracts for the work have been let.

Proceeds from the sale of the bonds will pay all construction costs. Construction will begin in a matter of days.

The action is a culmination of three years of work on the part of the 14 directors of the district. Towns in the district are Andalusia, Dothan, Troy, Abbeville, Brundidge, Elba, Enterprise, Eufaula, Ft. Deposit, Opp, Greenville, Headland, Lufkin, and Ozark. Construction has been delayed for months by a suit which has been dismissed by the Supreme Court.

Sixteen thousand applications for service with gas deposits have been received. The district announces that additional applications will be received for approximately 60 days. After this each customer will be required to pay the entire cost of connecting, estimated at $75. For those making applications now, connection costs are free.

The directors of the District have stated that, in their opinion, this step represents the greatest progressive move for economic development in the history of Southeast Alabama.

Lots of People Hope "They" Get C of C Started

Since starting a drive for a Chamber of Commerce in Elba, we have met a lot of encouragement. Many people have expressed the opinion that the town needs such an organization. These same persons who say the town needs a Chamber feverently hope that "they" get one started.

What we are trying to figure out is who is "they" and why doesn't it include the person who has expressed himself favorably on the idea.

After looking over the possible candidates for "they" the field was narrowed down to such work horses on community projects as John Taylor and Jim Whitman. Whenever there is a fund-raising chore to be done around the square, it seems these two fall heir to the job. Like they did for Centennial, they accomplish the assigned mission.

However, it isn't a fair proposition that these two and their cohorts be drafted for every job. They should not have to shoulder the burden for the entire community on every task. So let's look somewhere else for "they."

Maybe "they" are the successful businessmen upon whose coat tails the rest of Elba has been riding for the past quarter century. Specifically reference is made to the men and women who have invested their time and money in an idea and nursed it into a successful operation. By name those operations are Emergency Aid Life Insurance Co., National Security Life Insurance Co., National Security Life Insurance Co., and Dorsey Trailers. Of more recent vintage are the Peoples Hospital Insurance Co. and Worth Supply Co.

Founders of these companies have profited personally as they should have. It was their risk and their work that enabled them to grow to sound financial maturity. At the same time they have provided jobs for their neighbors that would not otherwise have been available. Without these firms Elba's business activity would probably be on a par with that of New Brockton or Brantley where only about half as many retail outlets are supported.

It seems to the writer that "they" already have done more than their proportionate share of community work. Tasks should not be left for "them" but should be done by "us." Those who are sitting in the stands, rooting for "them" to get the Chamber of Commerce started could easily climb down out of the bleachers and get on the playing field. Number on the team is not regulated by any rules nor is the composition. As a matter of fact, the more who participate, the stronger the team will be. Get away from the "they" idea and make it "us." Everyone's stake is equal.

The Chamber of Commerce is not a closed corporation. Any individual can buy stock in the future of the agricultural college of his state about a fee of $15 per year. Don't wait to be invited to join. Any members of the board of directors will be glad to issue you a membership receipt. Particularly needed is more participation by women. They can either join as individuals or take out a membership for their club.

A Chamber of Commerce is an organization of men and women working together to make their community a better place in which to live and make a living. It is a project for "we," not "they."

Doors Opened for Credit on Installing Irrigation

Recent action in Congress extending the Water Facilities Act to include the South and the rest of the nation may be the irrigation would enable drought-ridden Coffee County farmers to eventually shake themselves free of the bogey of "plenty of rain but none of it at the right time."

Farm and political leaders, aroused by the near-disaster resulting from billions of dollars in farm crop values being lost during drought years, had the Water Facilities Act extended to include the entire country. The main immediate benefit provided by the act is long-term loans to individuals.

The main immediate benefit provided by the act is long-term loans to individuals. The writeup said the loans are available only where suitable credit cannot be obtained from banks or other private sources, these loans being administered by the Farmers Home Administration. According to the dispatch, details may be obtained readily from FHA representatives or county farm agents.

While the extension agency's office and FHA office in Enterprise have not announced anything on this yet, interested farmers could start the ball rolling by making inquiries as to the availability of loans in Coffee County.

One of the biggest drawbacks to the developing of irrigation in the county has been the lack of money to do the job. Almost every farmer knows he could substantially increase the yield in his fields given one or two rains at the right time. If he had a sprinkler irrigation system to fall back on, it would surely pay for itself in a number of years. Trouble is that only a few could afford to put out the approximate $100 per acre required to install irrigation.

Still another handicap is the soil. Texture, fertility and productivity of all the soil under cultivation in Coffee County does not warrant the relatively ### high cost of artificial rain.

In many cases that defect can be remedied by standard soil improvement practices, principally discing and cover crops and heavy fertilization, but the process is not a swift one and it too costs money initially.

Worth of installing sprinkler irrigation has been proven throughout the South. At Athens, Ga., watering upped the corn yield 560 per cent in one 1952 study and 158.5 per cent in 1953. In 1952 cotton yield was boosted more than a bale an acre by artificial watering. A gain of about two-thirds of a bale the next year was reported. In a four-year study, irrigation upped the pole bean yield 133 per cent with added gains from improved quality.

It was found to have increased cotton yields in South Carolina a half bale an acre, in Mississippi 100 per cent and in Arkansas about 200 pounds of lint. At present prices this would mean a gain in cash returns of between $75 and $100 per acre counting the value of the cotton seed.

This year in Coffee County the value of irrigation per acre on peanuts would probably have meant the difference between the 2-400 pounds being harvested and the average yield of 1200 pounds per acre. Instead of a virtual crop failure, it would have been a normal yield.

The cost of a sprinkler system varies with the accessibility of the water supply and other factors. Specialists in Virginia calculate the cost at $100 per acre in North Carolina at $150 and in Mississippi up to $125. Operation expense probably doesn't run more than $20 to $30 per acre, even less in some instances.

The County Extension Service and FHA should immediately check to see under what conditions the benefits of the Water Facilities Act will apply to Coffee County so that this important improvement can be put on as many farms as possible.

Persons Leaving Lots of Troubles for "Big Jim"

When Gov. Gordon Persons leaves the gubernatorial mansion to incoming James Folsom in January, he will pack up all his personal belongings and leave. But he will also leave the new head of the state government with a lot of problems.

One of the biggest headaches will be highway department funds which Persons decimated with obligations on his $25 million bond issue and cut further by lowering the price of car tags to $3. He not only obligated future revenue but sliced the amount of money coming in for roads.

Then there is Phenix City. On Jan. 17 a new slate of civil officers normally takes over law enforcement duties in that county.

Tip Offered on How to Break a Jury Deadlock

In the last term of civil court, the jury heard the judge's instructions and retired to the jury room for deliberation. According to gossip, the first vote showed an 11-1 margin for the defendant. Two hours of arguing failed to budge the one man's opinion or lead him to compromise. Since it was getting near football game time, other jurors decided to put the pressure on the hold out.

They ordered up a bunch of crackers, onions and canned sardines and proceeded to eat them. Even though the smell about waited them, it didn't alter the lone wolf's mind. He wouldn't go along with the rest of the jury.

The judge saved the day, and probably a lot of jurors' lives from asphyxiation, when he called them back and declared a mistrial. Some wag commented that it took two days before the jury room lost its smell of onions and sardines.

The Inquisition was never like this.

How Advertising helps you

BY CHARLES B. ROTH

Time to Spare

AN ADVERTISING man, interested in farming, was talking to the head of the agricultural college of his state about some new methods and reforms in farming which had been discovered and which, put into use, would greatly increase farm production.

"How long do you think it will take the majority of farmers to adopt these improved methods?" he asked the college president.

"I should say at least twelve years, more often twenty," was the reply.

This lies between the production of knowledge and its distribution, as the advertising man pointed out in discussing this incident, is not confined to farming. It exists everywhere.

It exists everywhere, that is, except where advertising is applied.

Take an example. A manufacturer, after long and costly research, discovers a way to improve his product. One current development is the use of chlorophyll. It didn't take a dozen or twenty years for you to discover the advantages of chlorophyll.

Desore Stars in "B" Game
An unheralded rookie almost stole the show Monday night when the Elba Baby Tigers scored a hard-fought 7-6 victory at Elba stadium over a pack of wild Kittens from Enterprise. Pete Desore was the real whiz, both on offense and defense. He was here, there and everywhere. He carried the ball for gains time after time and his tackles were hard and clean.

Charles Hayes and Charles Clark were outstanding in the line along with Jimmy Nelson. Jimmy Harper got off some good punts and gives promise of developing into a valuable man for the Tigers.

Both teams got off rather unsteadily, but the Tigers soon revealed a superiority over the Kittens and in the closing minutes of the first quarter worked the ball into scoring territory.

Wayne Jacobs went over for a TD on a quarterback sneak. Desore scored what proved to be the deciding point.

The remainder of the game was closely contested. Elba having a slight edge, but lacking the goal and the kicking punch.

A shutout appeared to be in the cards for Elba but late in the final period a blocked Elba punt placed Enterprise in a scoring position.

Desore Stars in "B" Game
An unheralded rookie almost stole the show Monday night when the Elba Baby Tigers scored a hard-fought 7-6 victory at Elba stadium over a pack of wild Kittens from Enterprise. Pete Desore was the real whiz, both on offense and defense. He was here, there and everywhere. He carried the ball for gains time after time and his tackles were hard and clean.

Charles Hayes and Charles Clark were outstanding in the line along with Jimmy Nelson. Jimmy Harper got off some good punts and gives promise of developing into a valuable man for the Tigers.

Both teams got off rather unsteadily, but the Tigers soon revealed a superiority over the Kittens and in the closing minutes of the first quarter worked the ball into scoring territory.

Wayne Jacobs went over for a TD on a quarterback sneak. Desore scored what proved to be the deciding point.

The remainder of the game was closely contested. Elba having a slight edge, but lacking the goal and the kicking punch.

A shutout appeared to be in the cards for Elba but late in the final period a blocked Elba punt placed Enterprise in a scoring position.

Two pass plays put the ball near the goal and Enterprise ran it over. The try point was not good and as the clock was running out the time, Elba won by a single point.
